Yanks Repulse Red Thrust In Viet Highlands

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese army regulars charged at U.S. defenders near Dak To in the central highlands tonight but withdrew after two hours of heavy fighting. The Americans fired 105mm howitzers at point-blank range to hold their positions.

Unofficial accounts from the scene said nine U.S. soldiers were killed and 25 others wounded, bringing the U.S. toll in 11 days of fighting in the area to 101 killed and 525 wounded. Red casualties in the fight were not immediately known. Before the fight their losses were more than 600 men killed.

There were reports the Communist forces had breached the U.S. defense perimeter at one point in the fighting and that paratroopers of the American 173rd Airborne Brigade were rushed in to drive them out.

AP correspondent John Lengel reported from the battle zone that the sharp new action came after a day of light skirmishes along the highlands battlefront. Earlier U.S. intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese had moved in reinforcements to bolster their ranks. The North Vietnamese force is believed to include a rocket regiment armed with 122mm projectiles.

Lengel reported the airborne brigade came under frontal assault after nightfall about six miles southwest of Dak To in what U.S. officials believe is an effort to score an "impact victory" to embarrass South Vietnam's new civilian-based government. But the Communists also may be seeking to keep open an important infiltration route into the South from Laos by knocking out U.S. defenses at Dak To, which straddles the route.

Earlier in the day U.S. forces launched fresh helicopter assaults against the five North Vietnamese regiments believed to be in the area.

The choppers rose to seek out the enemy after U.S. troops encamped in the area weathered 10 hours of incoming Communist rockets and mortar rounds.

"There's every prospect of a truly significant victory," said Lt. Gen. William B. Rosson, the U.S. commander of the 2nd Corps area that encompasses the middle region of South Vietnam.

"The enemy gives every indication of staying. We couldn't ask for anything more opportune."

One Repudiates Statements He Made In Hanoi

ROME (AP) — Three U.S. Army sergeants freed by Communists at Phnom Penh, Cambodia, today on a flight taking them home to the United States.

The Americans, examined on the Pan American [illegible] in Beirut, were [illegible] an interview with [illegible] paper repudiated [illegible] ments he had made in Hanoi. Another of the two stood behind his remarks.

The three men — James E. Jackson of Talcott, W.Va., Daniel Lee Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C., and Edward R. Johnson of Seaside, Calif. — were put aboard a Pan American airliner due in Washington at 10:30 p.m. EST after stopovers in Rome, Paris and New York.

The men were flown to Beirut Sunday from Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, aboard a Czechoslovak airliner after a ceremony Saturday at which they were turned over to Thomas Hayden, representing an American peace committee.

Hayden was traveling with them to the United States, Pan American said.

Will Go Back To War

Sgt. Johnson, who was reported ill with dysentery and malnutrition, was quoted by the Beirut newspaper Al Bayrak as denying that he had been brainwashed and said: "I am going back to the war when duty calls me."

"I said what I said in Hanoi under pressure and I didn't mean any of it," he was quoted as saying. "I am an American, . . . I don't think my brain is so dirty that somebody has to wash it for me."

However, Al Bayrak said Pitzer told its reporter at the airport: "I meant everything I said in Hanoi. I am against war and I think the Americans made a mistake in getting involved in it."

Pitzer said in Phnom Penh that he was captured in October 1963 in Camau province, South Vietnam's southernmost province. But Melhem Karam, the editor of Al Bayrak and the president of the Lebanese Editors Association, said Pitzer told him his plane was hit while he was bombing North Vietnam, and that he bailed out and was captured.

Says Well Treated

Pitzer said he was well treated by his captors in North Vietnam.

Jackson said only that he was going on to Prague and then to meet his family in the United States.

Beirut airport was under heavy security for the departure. Plainclothes policemen were on duty in the terminal and no newsmen or photographers were allowed out of the building toward the runway where the airliner waited.

The U.S. Embassy said the three Americans asked to be disembarked from the Czech plane in Beirut Sunday for rest and medical attention.

It was the three sergeants' first contact with U.S. officials since their release.

Because of his illness, Johnson had not attended the release ceremony in Phnom Penh, but Jackson and Pitzer appeared and made statements of thanks to the Viet Cong and to Hayden. However, newsmen were not allowed to talk to them.

A U.S. psychologist's report released by officials in Saigon said there was evidence the three had undergone Communist brainwashing treatment,

LBJ Is Criticized From Pulpit Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson spent a whirlwind weekend defending his Vietnam policies, then listened in church as a Virginia clergyman bluntly suggested the chief executive should publicly explain America's role in the war.

This challenge was put directly to Johnson by the Rev. Dr. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis during Sunday services at historic Bruton Parish church in Williamsburg, Va.

The President and Mrs. Johnson, daughter Lynda and her fiance, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, sat in a front row pew—barely 10 feet from the Episcopal rector—as he put his questions.

The Johnson administration's public information policies came under attack a few hours later from the Freedom of Information Committee of Sigma Delta Chi, an 18,00-member professional journalism society.

Claim Public Misled

The panel said in a report that some of the administration's top officials have been "deliberately misleading the public, the press and the Congress through flat lies, through half-truths and through clever use of statistics that distort." It called the President's news conferences "well organized for a White House snow job."

The report, released in advance of Sigma Delta Chi's national convention opening Wednesday in Minneapolis, Minn., charged the State and Defense departments and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are the worst offenders in the public information field.

Although the President emerged from the church service with only the trace of a smile, he wasn't deterred from enjoying a pleasant autumn day in the restored colonial capital of Virginia. He went golfing, then had dinner before flying back to Washington by helicopter.

For the chief executive the sandy-haired Dr. Lewis doubtless provided an unwanted climax to a 5,100-mile Veterans Day weekend tour that took him from Ft. Benning, Ga., to the carrier Enterprise off the California coast, then back to the East.

In appearances at military bases Friday and Saturday before going to Williamsburg, Johnson defended his Vietnam policy and appealed for united support in the war.

Dr. Lewis, however, told the President "there is a rather general consensus that something is wrong in Vietnam." The clergyman went on:

"We wonder if some logical straightforward explanation might be given without endangering whatever military or political advantage we hold. ...While pledging our loyalty we ask respectfully why."

The minister, described by parishioners as a conservative Southern Democrat with roots deep in Alabama, said:

Appalled At War

"We are appalled that apparently this is the only war in our history which has had three times as many civilians as military casualties. It is particularly regrettable that to most nations the struggle's purpose appears as a form of neocolonialism."

He also said, in apparent reference to those who want a stepped-up war, that Americans are mystified by news reports "suggesting our brave fighting units are inhibited by directives and inadequate equipment from using their capacities to terminate the conflict successfully."

When the rector escorted Johnson to the presidential limousine after the service, shook his hand and murmured a few words, Johnson simply nodded.

Mrs. Johnson's parting comment to Dr. Lewis was, "Wonderful choir."

"I Don't Know"

During this rather awkward tableau, about a dozen antiwar demonstrators across the street kept up a clearly audible chant of "Peace! Peace!"

Dr. Lewis later was asked by newsmen if he felt the American position in Vietnam was wrong.

"I don't know," he said. "I would have to know more than I do now."

Dr. Lewis began his sermon by noting the President was sitting in a pew once used by George Washington and that the Bible used for the reading of the morning lessons was given to the parish by King Edward VII of England.

A native of Birmingham, Ala., Dr. Lewis came to Williamsburg 10 years ago from Little Rock, Ark., where he was dean of Trinity Cathedral.

Blast Rocks Plane; 78 Escape Injury

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — High over Colorado, an explosion rocked an American Airlines jetliner with 78 persons aboard, shattering suitcases in the plane's rear baggage compartment.

The plane, on a nonstop flight Sunday from Chicago to San Diego dropped about 600 feet over Alamosa, Colo.

After the Boeing 727 landed two hours later in San Diego, fragments of what appeared to be a homemade bomb were found in the luggage debris.

"There's no question about that," said Mel Zikes, a public relations officer for American. "Parts of a crudely made bomb with a timing device—a face of a clock, some mechanism and a battery—were found."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation refused to comment except to say persons were being questioned.

Coach Tony Sucec and seven members of San Diego State College track team, were flying home after repeating as champions of the national college cross-country meet at Wheaton, Ill., College.

None of the 72 passengers or six crew members was reported injured.

The pilot, Dwain C. Duncan of Barrington, Ill., said he believed something was wrong with the automatic pressure system, but that manual control brought the pressure back to normal.

Land In Paris

PARIS (AP)—Three U.S. Army sergeants, freed by the Viet Cong, landed in Paris today on the way to report to the Defense Department in Washington.

Traveling under the care of a State Department officer from the U.S. Embassy in Beirut, the three soldiers refused to make any comment.

Report Sextuplet Birth In Pakistan

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) —A local correspondent of the daily newspaper Sangbad reported today a woman gave birth to six sons Nov. 1 at the remote village of Coshi.

The correspondent's report said all the babies were alive. The mother and her husband, named Washed Ali, were said to have two other children.

Authenticity of the report is difficult to ascertain.

OEO Partisans Fight Fund Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — House supporters of the administration's antipoverty program plan to fight for the full $2.06 billion requested instead of seeking a compromise to head off a deep cut proposed by Republicans.

A GOP amendment to slash the program by $660 million is slated for action today as the House resumes consideration of the controversial legislation.

A plan by some Democrats who back the bill to agree to a lesser cut in hopes of defeating the Republican move was abandoned after a series of weekend strategy huddles and after President Johnson's fighting denunciation of "standpatters and nay-sayers."

In a New York speech Thursday night, Johnson blasted the "old coalition" he said has always opposed reform and is now using the Vietnam war as an excuse to oppose his domestic program.

Passed By Senate

The decision to stand by the administration request was taken even though the Republican bid to cut the total spending to $1.4 billion is likely to succeed. The economy-minded House has already indicated in an earlier vote it thinks the Office of Economic Opportunity can get along with as little as $1.2 billion.

The reason House Democrats can view such a potential defeat calmly is that the Senate has already passed a bill authorizing $2.2 billion and an eventual compromise bill could go as high as $1.8 billion no matter what the House decides.

The money amendment is only the opening of the Republican fight to rewrite the antipoverty bill. The GOP has several dozen other proposals ready to go and final action on the bill is not expected until midweek.

Democrats Confident

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., who proposed the cut to $1.4 billion, said if the House goes along with the rest of the GOP amendments it will have created a program that would generate $3 billion to fight poverty through additional state, local and private contributions.

The GOP bill would end some programs, put others under different administration and enlarge the role of private industry in job training.

Parts Shortage Crimps Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—Parts shortages and local union disputes in Michigan and Illinois kept 26,300 of Chrysler Corp.'s 95,000 hourly wage workers off the job today.

A Chrysler spokesman said all three of its assembly plants in Detroit were closed due to the lack of parts from the Sterling Township stamping plant where local issue disputes are unresolved.

The Belvidere, Ill., plant also was not in operation today due to unsettled local grievances.

Meanwhile, auto and truck production was continuing at other Chrysler plants, after a record national contract was reached last Wednesday by the United Auto Workers and Chrysler.

Three one-day walkouts were held in at least three General Motors plants today, apparently in protest by the union of the company's stockpiling of vehicles. GM is the last target by UAW president Walter Reuther in seeking three-year contracts with the Big Three automakers.

GM plants affected were in Saginaw, Pontiac, and Doraville, Ga., a GM spokesman said.

Chrysler's 8,000 salaried workers were at their jobs Monday.

On Sunday, Chrysler's truck drivers who moved parts from plant to plant in the Detroit area voted 260 to 153 to return to work. A company spokesman said they had returned to work Monday morning.

'Greatest Show' Changes Hands

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — Work went on with new enthusiasm at winter quarters of Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Combined Shows, Inc., today and "The Greatest Show on Earth" was under new ownership for the first time since the Ringling brothers hit the road as entertainers in 1882.

"That's great news," said workers in and around the big amphitheater here which the circus calls home for seven or eight weeks each winter. They referred to reports from Rome, Italy, that Judge Roy Hofheinz of Houston, Tex., and Irvin and Israel Feld of Washington, D.C., had bought the famous old amusement enterprise for "more than $10 million."

John Ringling North, president of the circus off and on since his uncle John Ringling died in 1936, said he decided to pass ownership to Hofheinz and the Feld brothers because they indicated "their concern and their dedication to maintain the concept, tradition and artistic standards of the circus."

The new owners announced the technical staff of the circus would remain the same and the 1968 season would proceed as scheduled. The circus is to close its 1967 tour in Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 19 and return to winter quarters here, where it will start the 1968 season with a three-day stand Jan. 11-13.

The new owners said North would continue as producer and his brother, Henry Ringling North, would remain as vice president. Offices will be moved from New York to Washington, D.C., where the Feld brothers have operated the Carter Barrow Amphitheater for the past 14 years.

Hofheinz, who masterminded the Astrodome stadium in Houston, will become board chairman of the circus, with Irvin Feld president and chief executive officer and Israel Feld executive vice president and treasurer.

North, 64, who makes his home in Rome, had 450 of the 1,000 circus shares in his own name and with his brother controlled 60 more as executors of their mother's estate. Minority stockholders, who owned 490 shares, were heirs of Edith Conway Ringling and her son, Robert Edward Ringling.

The Circuit Court last Thursday approved sale of the minority stock and Judge Lynn Silvertooth said the court acted for beneficiaries of the trusts.

Rumors of the sale circulated for some time and a year ago John Ringling North put the price of his shares at $5.1 million. Minority stockholders said their shares were worth $4.9 million.

State Cautioned To Go Slow On Salmon Planting

Coho salmon can become one of the greatest recreational assets to Michigan, or the program can backfire and cause trouble to our sport fishing management program, according to James L. Rouman, director of Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Rouman observed, "The Conservation Department's introduction of coho in suitable Michigan rivers has demonstrated that this import from the Pacific has great potential for both sport and commercial fishing. But the initial success of the coho program does not necessarily mean that this is a new Great Lakes resource which will stand the test of time. There are still too many unanswered questions. More biological information is needed before a generalized planting program is inaugurated."

For this reason Rouman commended the Conservation Department for resisting the pressures of local communities to plant coho in practically every river in Michigan.

Research First

"It is true that the value of the coho to Michigan economy may well run into the tens of million dollars. And every Michigan community naturally wants to cash in on this bonanza by getting into the act as soon as possible. This is understandable when agencies like the Manistee Board of Commerce quote figures indicating a doubling or tripling of local business income as a result of the 'coho fever' now raging in this state. But right now the emphasis should definitely be placed on research and management. Once the soundness of the coho program has been established beyond question, and the many doubtful factors resolved, the economic advantages will follow as a natural sequence," he said.

For example, Rouman said that one of the problems yet to be solved is whether young salmon will coexist with other stream species such as brown trout during the one and a half years before migration to the Great Lakes. During that time they compete with other fish in the stream for food. Research has shown that brown trout will feed on young coho, and that's expensive fish food. Also, research has not yet determined whether brook trout will survive in streams where coho are planted, and brook trout now provide some of Michigan's finest sport fishing.

In commenting on the lack of forethought now being exhibited by many Michigan communities, Rouman quoted from an editorial in the Escanaba Daily Press:

Be Selective

"This strikes us as conservation by politics and a poor approach to a subject that calls for the best scientific counsel that is available. The Conservation Department employs some of the best fish biologists available and has backstopping by specialists at the universities. They should decide where the first plantings should go and also where subsequent plantings should go. . . The Department fared very poorly with the Legislature this year, even after enactment of the state income tax. It is the greatest orphan of all state departments and it isn't realistic to ask it for cohos when it is so hard pressed for money that it isn't filling job vacancies and is cutting back many programs."

Rouman urged that local groups encourage the Conservation Department to include in its coho plantings only those rivers that are most adaptable for this purpose and without depleting other valuable native species prevalent in the stream.

He concluded, "Communities interested in profiting from the coho would do well to address their requests to State and Federal legislators, as the need for legislative appropriations to underwrite research is truly desperate at this time. The honorable sportsman will see the wisdom of the advice, 'Go slow on the coho' so that the lure of a quick dollar will not override the permanent value of a sound, long-term resource investment."

YOU CAN TELL a hunter by his reaction to hunt pictures. A hunter won't say of this one: "What a pretty deer!" He's much more apt to say: "You can tell that that picture was taken before the hunting season. They don't stand like that and cooperate when you have a gun. The ground cover shows that fall isn't far along!"

'Mediocre' Season On Deer Indicated

By KENNETH LOWE

Don't expect the 1967 deer hunting season in the Upper Peninsula to be any better than it was last year.

That's the outlook for the season that opens a week from today, based on opinions of conservation department and private observers.

Although there may be some exceptions in certain areas, it appears generally that "conditions are not going to be drastically different from last year," according to Ralph Bailey, Marquette, regional game biologist for the department.

Fawn Production

Biggest reason for the expected mediocre season is the size of the herd itself. Department deer survey results show no indications of any general increase in the herd. If anything, a slight decline is indicated.

The same prospect emerges from comments by non-department observers. A lot of bird hunters, for instance, reported seeing very few deer during the 41-day grouse season that ended Friday.

The department's Upper Peninsula pellet survey indicated a few less deer this year. Tabulations of highway deer kill above the Straits showed about the same number as last year through June. Fawn production was rated "down a little, but still fair to good."

Heavy Snow Crust

"The deer made out better in the west end than we expected and the fawn crop was better than anticipated," Bailey said. This, he added, was because a heavy snow crust during the critical early spring period enabled deer in the west end to move out of their yards to browse.

"But we didn't get any such crusting in the east end, and deer observations by conservation officers there are down this year," Bailey noted. "The observations in the west end were down also in May and June but were up in August and September."

Shaky Lakes Drive

For the central Upper Peninsula, Bailey said, "there are perhaps a little fewer deer, except in Menominee County."

A deer drive in a half section (one-half square mile) in the Shaky Lakes area of Menominee County this summer turned up 64 deer, Bailey said, "but it's obvious that there are not that many deer throughout the county."

In any event, Bailey commented, "the overall trend is still down in most of the U.P., as it has been for the past several years. The deer yards aren't getting any better, and I'm concerned about winter, because right now timber isn't moving too good and we've worried about enough commercial cutting to supply winter browse for deer."

Two Feet At Ironwood

Next to the herd size, the biggest factor affecting deer harvest is the weather, and this could be crucial this year because of the relatively late Nov. 18 opening.

Goodly amounts of snow already have hit in many parts of the Peninsula, and snow cover ranged from two feet in the Ironwood area to traces in other parts of the U.P. If more heavy snowfalls occur next week, deer hunters could be faced with a problem of getting into their camps. Many roads are not in good condition now, and unless a freeze-up occurs before the opener there could be a lot of blocked roads before Saturday.

Heavy snow cover and cold weather also could dampen hunter enthusiasm and reduce the number of man-hours of hunting, with a consequent reduction in the kill.

Smaller Hunting Army Seen

Bailey doesn't think there will be as many hunters in the U.P. this year as last. He believes the simultaneous opening of the season in both peninsulas will reduce the number of downstate hunters coming to the Northern Peninsula. For the past several years, the season has started earlier in the U.P. than downstate, giving Lower Peninsula hunters an opportunity to experience two opening days.

The prolonged strike against Ford Motor Co. also may have a bearing on the number of hunters in the U.P., Bailey theorizes, on the grounds that men who missed a lot of days of work during the strike may not want to take any additional time off now.

Hunting "First"?

David A. Arnold, Lansing game division specialist who formerly was in charge of the Cusino Wildlife Experiment Station at Shingleton, said there may be a deer hunting "first" this season. Southern Lower Peninsula hunters, like Southern Michigan deer, are on the increase, and more deer may be taken in the Southern Lower Peninsula this year for the first time than in the Upper Peninsula. Highway deer kills in the southern area are up 28 per cent from a year ago.

Last year, hunters north of the Straits took about 15,000 bucks and 13,000 antlerless deer.

Antlerless deer hunting will be conducted again this year throughout the Upper Peninsula except in Keweenaw County and that part of Houghton County north and east of the Portage Canal. A total of 67,033 hunters applied for antlerless deer permits in the U.P., a decline of 7 per cent from last year's 67,703 applications.

Webster Youth Center Opens Tuesday Night

The Webster Youth Center, sponsored by the City of Escanaba in cooperation with the Escanaba Area Public Schools, will open Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 6:30 p.m. All activities will be conducted under the direction of Erwood Slade and Darrel Bengry, members of the staff of the Escanaba Junior High School.

The northside center will be open Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 throughout the winter months with the exception of Thanksgiving and the Christmas school vacation period.

The following games and exercises will be included as part of the program of recreational activities offered to the young people of the area: basketball, volleyball, dancing, weight-lifting, table tennis, tumbling and table games.

The facility has been in operation for eight years and has been effective in meeting the social needs of many boys and girls who find it inconvenient to attend Club 314. Membership cards will not be issued next week but will be available from the adult leaders beginning Tuesday, Nov. 21. There is no charge for enrollment.

Graham Film Continues Here

Only two days remain after today for the viewing of the Billy Graham film "The Restless Ones." Thus far, 3,500 persons from the Escanaba area and vicinity have attended the showing of the film.

Filmed against the background of the 1963 Billy Graham Los Angeles Crusade, the movie speaks directly to the youth of today. To those whom many have called, "a generation without a cause" comes an answer, not an easy answer, to the search for reality in life.

Parents are encouraged to attend since the problems of youth are issues which they must face as well. The movie is described as "one for those who care and for those who couldn't care less." It is a film for the family and the community.

"The Restless Ones" has been brought to the Escanaba area by a clergy committee headed by Rev. Erland Carlson, pastor of Christ the King Lutheran Church. Showings of the film are at 6 and 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $1.25.

Parking Problems:

City Considers More Metering

The installation of parking meters in the 300 block of Ludington St. and the 100 block of N. 6th St. will be considered by the City Council when it meets at the City Hall at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Recently the attention of the Council was directed by the Delta County Board of Supervisors to the parking problem that exists on Ludington St. in the 300 block, where the Court House and the State Office Building are located. Both buildings have off-street parking for employes but there have been complaints that the public is unable to find parking in front of the buildings on Ludington St.

The N. 6th St. 100 block is adjacent to the Post Office a building which houses a number of federal agencies.

The Council also has on its agenda the presentation of an award to Sheriff Harold Finman, who before his retirement served the City of Escanaba for years as chief of police.

Utility pole bids will be opened by the Council; the public hearing on a proposal to vacate a street right of way from Lake Shore Drive to the Bay in Block 1 and 2 of the Lake Shore Drive Addition; and consideration of a request to break curb in the 1200 block on 1st Ave. N. will come to the Council.

A resolution setting the date of Dec. 4 for a special election on the proposal to levy 2 mills for 3 years to finance a municipal indoor swimming pool is also to receive Council action; and the Council is scheduled to adopt a resolution recognizing W. H. Treloar, Marquette, who is soon to retire as publisher of Panax newspapers at Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Marquette.

Authority from the Council to acquire property for the new access road to the airport terminal building on which construction has started, and adoption of a resolution approving the realignment of sanitary sewers extending to Industrial Park are also on the Council agenda.

Missouri Girl Is 1968 Miss Teenage America

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A mite of a girl with a smile that makes her glow, Stephanie Crane of High Ridge, Mo., is the 1968 Miss Teen-age America.

The 17-year-old high school senior also was selected the favorite of the 62 other contestants because of her spontaniety and friendliness.

Stephanie said at a news conference Sunday she never considered how to impress judges, fellow candidates or the pageant officials.

"More than winning the contest I wanted to be happy with myself and the only way I could was to be myself," she said. "I didn't want to be pegged as something I wasn't. I'm glad the judges liked me."

She will use the $10,000 scholarship she won to choose and attend "the best possible school for drama and singing in the country" with the hope of entertaining professionally some day.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Richard Crane, said they were numb. Their two younger children, a boy, 6, and a girl, 3, watched on color television sets back in High Ridge with an assortment of aunts and uncles and grandparents.

In addition to the scholarship, Stef won a new car, a guaranteed $5,000 in personal appearances that will take her up to 500,000 miles around the nation during her reign, a clothes wardrobe, and stock in two of the sponsoring companies.

Church Council To Consult On State's Indians

A Consultation on Indians in Michigan will be conducted by the Division of Mission of the Michigan Council of Churches on the Northern Michigan University Campus at Marquette, Nov. 28 and 29.

The participants will seek to determine unmet needs of Michigan Indians through presentations of present programs of Indian-serving agencies and denominations.

Michigan's 10,000 to 13,000 Indians are spread from Ironwood to Detroit in many vocations and in many no-reservation communities. Most function well as a part of Michigan society.

Registration from 10 a.m. until noon, Nov. 29 in the Don H. Bottum University Center will be open to interested persons from all of Michigan's churches. Denominations affiliated with the Michigan Council of Churches are being asked to send official delegates to carry a report of the action of the Consultation back to the denomination.

Reservations for the Consultation must be in the office of the Division of Mission of the Michigan Council of Churches by Nov. 22. The address is P.O. Box 206, Lansing, Mich., 48901.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Where The Deer Are

It has become obvious that our Upper Peninsula ski resorts are under new competition from those in the Lower Peninsula, which are pleading proximity as a magic ingredient in weekend recreation.

There's also a new element in deer hunting in Michigan. Our Upper Peninsula hunters — at least some of them — have been grumping for years that the Lower Peninsula boys come up and shoot "their" deer. Now, according to David Arnold, who lived in Escanaba and at Cusino for years and who is a worthy successor to Ilo Bartlett as the state's deer expert, it's possible that there will be more hunters in the bottom of the Lower Peninsula this month than in the Upper Peninsula.

* * *

This is a historic turnabout in Michigan deer hunting. It is almost as strange as would be a general exodus of Upper Peninsula hunters to shoot deer on Detroit's Belle Isle. The U. P. used to be THE place to hunt deer in Michigan but years ago the increased herd in the Lower Peninsula, more intensive hunting and more feed for the deer there increased the Lower Peninsula kill so that it exceeds the U. P. kill. (63,350 to 78,220 in 1966.)

And now it is predicted that this year's kill in the southernmost third of Michigan — below the Bay City-Muskegon line — which is very heavily populated, will be the highest there in modern times. This is a significant change for the Upper Peninsula because it confirms that such outdoor recreation can be provided in areas near to large centers of population.

In the case of the deer the milder winters, more abundant feed and greater hunting pressure all work together to provide increasing hunting within an hour or two's drive from Detroit's skyscrapers. Upper Peninsula sportsmen's clubs still oppose any-deer hunts which have helped deer plenty downstate by cropping off the herd to a size that the range can winter.

The buck harvest in the Upper Peninsula has been declining. It was more than 29,000 in 1955 and had skidded to 14,900 in 1960, but was back up to 19,700 in 1963. It was down to 15,000 last year. It will fluctuate from year to year because of strong influences like the weather in the opening days of the hunt, but there are long range influences working against increasing deer plenty in the Upper Peninsula.

For one thing it is a forested area with actually decreasing farm openings which are so commonplace in the Lower Peninsula and which provide much feed for deer. Our forests, which furnished so much feed for a huge deer herd when they were very young, are aging and providing less feed, except as they are cut and the tree tops and especially the new young forest growths provide feed.

* * *

Michigan's changing deer picture reminds us that deer will live in close proximity to man but not in the absence of abundant feed. The Conservation Department is managing state forest lands with increasing emphasis on deer propagation, but the milder climate and farmland character of the Lower Peninsula favors deer numbers over the Upper Peninsula's more rigorous climate and forest character. Deer need woodlands for shelter, but woodlands can be graveyards for deer.

It is fortunate for us that so many Lower Peninsula hunters have acquired U.P. hunt ties, so that they come year after year, because there's decreasing reason to do it if it's only the deer they want. There are more of them below the Straits of Mackinac than above.

Who Is Cong Head?

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Insurgent Cubans had their Fidel Castro, Algerians their Ben Bella, Indonesians their Sukarno. But the fondest friends of the Viet Cong National Liberation Front in Vietnam cannot produce even the shadow of a hero.

The truth is that not even the most diligent observers and scholars can be entirely sure who the leaders of the NLF really are.

Among the latest to probe are Rodger Swearingen and Hammond Rolph of the University of Southern California, who have done a documentary study for the American Bar Association on the subject, "Communism in Vietnam."

The authors ask this question:

"Why this strange obscurity in the leadership of a movement to which so much is attributed—a movement which is looked upon by its adherents as the vanguard of the anti-imperialistic struggle, and which so many consider the culmination of the national revolution of the Vietnamese people?"

Their chief answer is that the peculiarly shadowy nature of the higher level leadership "is probably one indication of the tightness of control by North Vietnam, whose leaders may wish to make certain that no strong and attractive figure arises in the south who might at some time or another take an embarrassingly independent posture."

Many U. S. critics of President Johnson's Vietnam policies like to insist that the NLF is properly representative of the South Vietnamese people's legitimate aspirations and hence must be dealt with first-hand in any negotiated settlement.

Unfortunately for their case, they have never been able to furnish convincing evidence that it represents anything but Hanoi. Even the late Bernard Fall, a Vietnam scholar from whom the critics occasionally took comfort, saw the NLF as a very fragile false front.

Fall dismissed the visible spokesmen for the front as "hardly of the caliber" to constitute a government ready to take over the Saigon regime at the first sign of disintegration.

Swearingen and Rolph's inquiries lead them to the same conclusion:

"Although Hanoi has selected some suitable non-Communist figures to form the central committee of the NLF and to head its numerous functional groups, these persons not only have no real power, but they are also largely unknown or obscure persons as far as the Vietnamese public is concerned.

"No prestigious figure in South Vietnam, no matter how strongly in opposition to the Saigon government, has gone into the jungle with the NLF."

The ostensible chairman of the NLF is Nguyen Huu Tho, who in 1947 took part in some futile negotiations to end the earlier Indochina war involving the French. Professor Fall had little regard for him, and the two Southern California scholars brand him a "non-descript Saigon leftist lawyer" who has carried on mostly "decorative duties" since the NLF's founding.

Some 12 of the 15 members of the NLF's presidium are styled as non-Communist, but Swearingen and Rolph say the evidence indicate all 12 have long histories of pro-Red front activities and several may actually be party members. In any event, there are three openly known Communist party members.

Somewhere in this varied assortment of obscure types is the real leader of the NLF. The authors make their own guesses on the basis of the available evidence. They suggest he is probably one Tran Nam Trung, head of the NLF military committee, and likely "one and the same person" with Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra of the North Vietnamese regular army.

But the operative point is that, whether he or some other is the man, the true leader is not now nor is he ever likely to be a charismatic hero to the whole South Vietnamese people or even just the Viet Cong themselves.

The Hitchhiker

Dickinson Kidnap Was 85 Years Ago

By E. O. ERICKSON

FLORENCE, Wis.—It started out like any other day in 1882, when the teeming influx of miners, lumberjacks and river drivers along with vice made this community the lawless Gold Coast of the Menominee Range frontier. But before the day, Wednesday, Nov. 1 was over it turned out to be the day of infamy in Florence history.

That was the day five-year-old Willie Dickinson left school, then in the old Commonwealth Town Hall, for home but never got there. Somewhere in the half-mile trek to his home, he disappeared. The kidnaped son of William E. Dickinson, captain of the Commonwealth Mine, was never seen again.

Early writers called it the Charles Ross case of the Upper Peninsula. Four-year-old Charles Ross, the victim in the first major kidnaping case in U.S. history, was never seen again after he was abducted on July 1, 1874, at Germantown, Pa.

Backwoods Gangster

The kidnaping of Willie Dickinson marked the beginning of the end of a brief, but lurid heyday of Florence. It led to the end of the reign of terror in the Florence area by Old Man Mudge, top hellion of the Menominee Range and described in books as the first gangster in the Great Lakes district, Chicago included. Mudge was accused of kidnaping Willie Dickinson.

Florence would like to forget the story of the Mudge regime which blotched its early history. But, it will remain an indelible chapter, as much a part of the early Florence history as the mining and logging.

The kidnapinig, the Mudge story and the Florence "Regulators" who put an end to the gangster regime make up the legend of all Upper Peninsula area legends.

Story Told In Books

Florence residents shake their heads in disbelief over the Mudge story and call it a gross exaggeration. However, it was popular reading in a book, "Iron Hunter" published in 1922. The book is the autobiography of a man who at 23 was the fearless editor of The Florence Mining News and one of the leaders in the revolt which cleansed Florence of the Mudge vice, crime and corruption.

The author, Chase S. Osborn, later moved to Sault Ste. Marie and became the 28th governor of Michigan in 1911-12.

Another book, "Iron Brew," written by Stewart H. Holbrook and published in 1939, repeats the version of Old Man Mudge as the gangster of the North woods.

Basically, Florence was not different — no better, no worse — than any other roaring frontier town, including Iron Mountain, which was about as bad as they could get. But — Florence was tarred with the Mudge brush as the center of gambling and prostitution. Osborn in his book, called Florence . . . "a metropolis of vice . . . "the picture cannot be overdrawn."

Operated Capone Style

Mudge was described as a "white-livered, sepulchral individual who wore a cotton tie, Prince Albert coat and a plug hat." In Indiana and Ohio, before coming to Florence, he passed himself off as a preacher to lure girls into white slavery. In the northern country, he controlled operations in an area of about 400 square miles, including Duluth, Superior, Michigan Soo, Manistique and had Florence for his headquarters in dealing in white slavery on a wholesale scale.

The Mudge gang operated Al Capone style long before the Chicago gangster was born. Mudge introduced kidnaping and the one-way ride into his racket. He bought out or terrorized district attorneys and county sheriffs. He dynamited newspapers and burned out "independent" houses of sin. He was the hellion of the iron ranges for more than a decade.

The start of his Florence operations is set at about 1880, when the mines opened and the area was a part of Marinette County. It was the year the first train steamed into Florence.

Fabulous Stockade

He built the fabulous high-peaked stockade a mile north of the town, reported to be on the road to the Brule dam. Big timber wolves were chained to the main gate of the huge house of prostitution. According to the legend the stockade was built to keep the women inmates from escaping and the wolves served the same purpose. His daughter, Mina, the story goes, was the madam of the house. Mina, described in books as a "she-hyena," continued to live in Florence, long after Mudge "left."

Florence was at the height of its brief, lurid hey-day.

Mining Captain Dickinson, a fearless man with high ideas served notice on the Mudge gang that he was going to clean up Florence gambling and prostitution.

Shortly after, his five-year-old son, Willie, disappeared on the way home from school. Miners and lumberjacks combed the Florence area for days with no sign of the child. The Mudge gang was accused of the kidnaping. It set the law abiding citizens on fire.

Osborne Arrives On Scene

Several months after the Nov. 1 kidnaping of Willie Dickinson, Chase Osborn a 23-year-old enterprising newspaper man arrived from Milwaukee to take over The Mining News and help clean up Florence. He started a fearless crusade. Printing editorials and stories about crime and using names. An attempt to burn him out by the Mudge gang resulted in publishing the paper with Winchester rifles within reach. Mudge owned the sheriff and the district attorney, the latter the worst of all the citizens of Florence.

Osborn headed for Madison for help from the governor. South of Iron Mountain, which Osborn claimed also was controlled by the Mudge gang, he was "arrested" and held over night.

Osborn returned from Madison with a new district attorney and the support of the governor and the cleanup started. Osborn, the Rev. Harlan Cory, William and Charley Noyes and Rolbstell, a hardware merchant, organized the "Regulators."

Regulators Take Over

In a dispute over the blame for the lawlessness the sheriff and old district attorney had a western shootout on the Main street and the sheriff was wounded.

Armed with rifles, revolvers and blacksnake whips the Regulators started to drive the toughs off the street. They stormed the Mudge stockage and set it ablaze. Mudge, his women and mobsters, according to the story, fled into the swamp, the Regulators after them.

Old man Mudge was never seen again. It was reported that only a dozen Regulators knew what happened to him. And they never talked.

After the end of Mudge, Florence became a peaceful settlement controlled by law.

No trace Of Willie

No trace was found of little Willie Dickinson who would be 90 years old if he were living today. He was the brother of Charlotte Dickinson who married O. C. Davidson and moved to Iron Mountain, where he was superintendent of the Oliver Mining Co. The only surviving member of the Dickinson family is Mrs. Lucetta Burton, another sister, who resides in Florida.

The Dickinson family spent a fortune tracking down false clues in the Chicago and Milwaukee areas. But no trace was found of little Willie. It was the general belief in those days that Willie was killed by his kidnapers and buried deep in a swamp along the Brule river. Residents held the same belief on the fate of Old Man Mudge.

Call Stories Exaggerated

Only a few of the residents of Florence today were born before that fateful day of Nov. 1, 1882. Among them are August Blome and Webster Ebar, both crowding 90. They were living then, but too young to remember the facts. Emil Equest who will be 83 soon and William Johnson, 70, have recollections of stories handed down from people who lived then and knew the story.

All agree Florence wasn't as bad as the picture painted in the two books and that the stories are exaggerated. "Florence was no worse than Iron Mountain," they say.

Oswald: "Here is a misplayed defense I watched recently. West opened the nine of diamonds. South played the four from dummy. East thought awhile and played his six, whereupon South won the trick, proceeded to draw trumps stopping in dummy, and led the jack of clubs. East ducked and South wound up making two overtricks."

Jim: "East really went to town as a trick thrower. He could have gone up with the ace of diamonds and returned his deuce as a suit preference signal. West could have ruffed and led back a club, whereupon a second diamond ruff would have set the hand."

Oswald: "The point of the misplay was that East thought that he had been unlucky. He said that it was more likely for West to have led a doubleton than a singleton and, in any case, he had to guess and had just guessed wrong."

Jim: "I agree that East guessed wrong. He couldn't tell if the lead was a singleton or a doubleton, but he had no reason at all to play low. He just wasn't going to beat to beat the hand unless his partner had opened a singleton."

Oswald: "That's right. The defense was misplayed because East had nothing to lose and everything to gain by rising with the ace of diamonds and returning the suit. South had bid confidently to game and North had shown up with a very sound single raise. It was possible for West to hold the ace of trumps. Possible, but most improbable."

Jim: "Furthermore, if West had held the ace of trumps and had opened a doubleton, it could only cost East if South were void of clubs. West could take his ace of trumps and put East in with a club."

Oswald: "It was most unlikely that South would be void of clubs. In that case, West would be holding a suit headed by king-queen-ten and would open it in preference to a doubleton lead."

Jim: "In other words, East just made a very bad play."

Fear Of Dying Can Be Hell On Earth

Dear Landers: My husband is 38 and looking forward to at least another 62 years but the last two months have been hell and I'd like to tell you about it.

The night Jack graduated from high school a fortune teller told him he would die before his 38th birthday. Jack didn't think anything of it and neither did I. But the thought was always in the back of our minds and every once in a while he'd say, "Isn't it ridiculous?"

On Jack's 37th birthday a friend offered this toast at a party: "Make the most of every day, Jack, because 38 is mighty old — and the end is in sight." It was meant as a joke (people had brought crutches and false teeth as gag gifts), but the toast made a wreck of us both.

Two months ago we were driving home from a party. It was foggy and the hour was late. Suddenly Jack's brakes gave out and we narrowly missed hitting an oncoming car. A moment before he swerved he shouted, "My God, the fortune teller was right!"

The next eight weeks were sheer torture. Jack refused to go anywhere but to work and to church. One night he had a mild case of indigestion and he was sure it was heart attack. Another night his neck ached and he knew he had polio. The following day he was certain an ingrown hair on his face was "skin cancer." Jack went to the doctor's office five times in seven weeks. I lost six pounds. He lost eight.

I write this letter Ann Landers on the day following Jack's 38th birthday. You'll never know how thankful we are to be leading normal lives again. But we'll never forget the agonies we suffered — and it was all so unnecessary.

The reason for this letter is to plead with all fortune-tellers not to predict death. In the first place, no one knows how many years a person will live — he can only guess, but the fear of dymg can hasten death through anxiety or accident. — FREE AT LAST

Dear Free: Your letter makes a great deal of sense and now I am bracing myself for the inevitable avalanche of letters from readers eager to recount personal experiences of death predictions which came true. To all of you I say in advance, it was a coincidence that your Uncle Heathcliff died on the day Cousin Anastasia predicted, so save your stamps.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I am only 13 and I have a lot to learn but I think I have something worthwhile to pass on to some of your readers who are much older than I.

I liked the letter from the woman whose husband gave her "the best birthday gift in the world." He quit smoking. I've heard many people say they would give anything if they could quit but they are hooked. Well, here is a poem that may be corny but all smokers ought to cut it out and carry it in the same pocket in which they used to carry their cigarets.

Did is a word of achievement,
Won't is a word of retreat,
Might is a word bereavement,
Can't is a word of defeat,
Ought is a word of duty,
Try is a word of each hour,
Will is a word of beauty,
Can is a word of power.
— ABC

Dear ABC: Corny or not, it's good. So I'll husk it and print it.

Sculptor Sought For Vandenberg Memorial Work

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Famed sculptor Alexander Calder, the only U.S. sculptor commissioned for Montreal's Expo '67, is being sought to design and build a piece vor Vandenberg Center.

Mrs. LeVant Mulnix III, co-chairman of a committee appointed to raise funds to hire an artist to build the sculpture, said that the $70,000 is to be raised locally. Another $45,000 in federal funds will "virtually assure" the commissioning of Calder, she said.

Calder has works in New York City's Lincoln Center and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Most Purchasers Cannot Estimate Interest Fees

Most Americans do not know how to estimate the rate of interest on a loan, but they do have credit priorities and some idea of where credit is cheapest, according to a University of Michigan economist.

Prof. James N. Morgan, who participates in continuing economic studies with the Survey Research Center of the U-M Institute for Social Research, says that people's predominantly favorable attitude toward installment-plan buying has not changed over the 13 years SRC has been conducting national surveys in this field.

People appear to have a priority order for uses of credit they regard as acceptable ranking from medical expenses down to fur coats or jewelry: Medical expenses 80%, Education 77%, Buying a car 65%, Furniture 52%, Paying piled up bills 43%, Covering expenses when income is cut 40%, Vacations 9%, Fur coat or jewelry 4%.

Prof. Morgan suggests that "consumer ignorance about technical details of credit is at least in part offset by sophistication about where it is cheaper, by shopping for the best deal, and by discriminating notions about acceptable purposes for credit-though some of us might wince at the acceptance of the idea of using credit for debt consolidation."

Low Income Policy

"The use of credit is common in the middle of the income range," he explains. "High-income people use it more rarely, but for longer period commitments, as when they buy cars.

The lowest-income people rarely use credit — whether from their own 'won't power' or the unwillingness of lenders to lend to them is difficult to say. They are even less likely to use revolving credit accounts, charge accounts, and gasoline credit cards, even though the last two provide free credit for short periods."

It is only at incomes above $7,500 where as many as a third of the people use gasoline credit cards, and above $10,000 where more than half do, Morgan reports. Charge accounts are used by about half the people with $7,500 incomes and two thirds of those earning $10,000.

A great deal of the increase in installment credit in the last decades has been the result of its increasing use in the upper middle income brackets, rather than any increase in the proportion of people with more debt than they could handle, the economist points out.

Near Limit

However, he adds, there may not be a lot of leeway for further expansion of installment credit. When a national sample was asked early this year, nearly two-thirds reported that it would be difficult for them to manage larger payments than they had at the time.

And the federal referees in bankruptcy report that the number of personal (non-business) bankruptcies has been growing rapidly, passing in absolute numbers the record of the Great Depression.

One of the reasons people have credit trouble is that the algebra of interest rates is too much for most of us, Morgan asserts.

He suggests one way to beat the cost of borrowing: "A man who could use a savings account as a reserve could easily, after a small inital wait, be earning 5 per cent interest on a varying sum for the rest of his life, instead of paying 16 per cent or more on a varying installment debt for the rest of his life."

False Sense

"Perhaps the most effective thing we can do with students is not teach them how to construct a table of compound interest but to realize such things as that a $10,000 house bought on a 20-year mortgage calls for payments of $17,200 at 6 per cent," the economist says. "If the mortgage runs for 40 years, the same house will require total mortgage payments of $26,400 at 6 per cent. And yet, those extra amounts may be cheaper than buying a succession of cars on credit over the same period."

Some evidence on auto installment paper indicates that lenders have been selling long-term paper, 36 months for instance, knowing that a large fraction of the buyers will trade the car in before that, pay off the loan, and take some penalties for prepayment, Morgan adds. "Once again the consumer is lulled into a false sense about what something is costing."

"And now the mail order houses are lengthening their terms, so that you can buy an appliance in September, not start payments until March and take 36 months to pay after that, adding a third to the total cost, so that a $460 appliance actually ends up costing $616," Morgan says.

Michigan Flier Honored By Navy

Rear Adm. Ralph W. Cousins, commander of Task Force 77 in the Gulf of Tonkin, presented each pilot a certifcate citing his achievement.

The Constellation, Cousins' flagship, goes off station Sunday, completing its current tour. Cousins will remain, changing flagships.

In a brief ceremony on the carrier's flight deck, Cousins told the crisply white-uniformed fliers: "Each of you has faced the enemy, fully aware of the dangers that were involved . . and have flown through combat conditions never before encountered."

Cousins likened the mission of flying over North Vietnam to "running the four-minute mile .. with the people in the stands shooting at you."

Reporter Denied Access To Will; Papers File Suit

MUSKEGON (AP) — Probate Judge Robert A. Cavanaugh has been ordered to appear at a show cause hearing Nov. 20 to explain why an order should not be issued allowing the Muskegon Chronicle to examine the will of the late John C. Beukema.

Booth newspapers filed a suit contending a reporter for the Chronicle was denied access to the will. Circuit Judge Albert J. Engel granted a show cause hearing.

The Chronicle said this was the first time in 110 years that the paper has been denied access to a will filed in Probate Court.

Beukema died Sept. 20. A Muskegon resident, he spearheaded a long campaign which climaxed in the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

How to improve your wife's cooking before Thanksgiving.

Keep her cool. Get her a new Gas range, and she'll spend less time in the kitchen. With better-than-ever results. Gas ranges can do 3 or 4 jobs at once. Automatically.

Free her time. A Gas range with automatic ovens can start—and finish—perfect meals while she's out. Out getting you something a little extra special for dinner.

Stop her stooping. Look into a Gas range with a modern eye-level oven she can look into. No more deep knee bends. No more smoke, either. All Gas ranges feature smokeless broiling. The clean Gas flame does it. Consumes any smoke and oven spatter.

Pass the buck. Don't pocket the money you'll save with Gas. (Gas cooking costs only ¼ as much as electric cooking.) Give her the difference. And taste the difference in your meals.

Take a load off her feet. No more in and out of the kitchen to watch the pots. Gas ranges have the Burner-with-a-brain, to guard against boil-overs. And there's an unlimited number of flame adjustments you can see. Not just 3 or 4.
Buy her a new Gas range at dealer and Gas Company showrooms. Save her all that legwork. Especially with Thanksgiving coming up.
Not to mention Thanksgiving dinner.

Gas cooks best for less.

"Why Catholic Education?"

Hanlon To Speak To School Group

The continued critical issue of financial support of Catholic education will be considered by Dr. James M. Hanlon of Marquette University, Milwaukee, in a special talk on "Why A Catholic Education" Tuesday night.

The 8 p.m. program in Bonifas auditorium is sponsored by St. Joseph's Home and School Association.

"As in other dioceses, some Catholics in the Marquette diocese are doubting the necessity for, and or questioning the merit of a Catholic education," said James Wren, president of the association. "Experience demonstrates that student enrollments are down, financial resources are limited, and at least in one instance a Catholic high school, (Marquette Bishop Baraga) will be closed as soon as an acceptable alternate can be found."

Dr. Hanlon, an associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts at Marquette University, joined the university's Dept. of Education in 1964. Previously he spent three years at the University of Buffalo, where he was assistant to the dean in the School of Education, and six years as Chairman of the English Dept. of Alden Central School, Aldem, N.Y.

Hanlon received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Canisius College, Buffalo, and his doctorate from the University of Buffalo.

confident they can defeat most, if not all, of the GOP amendments.

The House bill also would require Community Action agencies to be units of a state or local government. Of the 1,050 such agencies now in operation, 80 per cent are private, nonprofit organizations.

Supporters of the amendment hope it will end the kind of complaints—aired at a Senate hearing into last summer's riots—that allege a link between civic agitation and antipoverty workers connected with private organizations.

Democrats Urge School Aid, Fair Housing Support

PORT HURON (AP) — Democratic party leaders are on record with an urging that lawmakers pass pending legislation that would protect a tenant's rights, allow state aid to local education and guarantee fair housing.

And Michigan Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency has said he will leave his post soon.

The actions came Saturday at the party's meeting in Port Huron to plan for the 1968 elections.

John Bruff, a Mount Clemens attorney, was named to head a special campaign committee to dandle ideas, suggestions and effort to solve problems in connection with the coming elections.

The party, in a unanimously approved resolution, urged individual Democratic legislators to support passage of bills for tenant's rights, fair housing and state aid to local education.

Such support, the resolution said, would "redeem long-standing party platform pledges."

Ferency said his decision to retire was made known to party leaders several months ago and had nothing to do with a possible presidential bid by Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D. - Minn., who has indicated he may challenge President Johnson for the 1968 Democratic presidential nomination.

Chamber Urges Highway Work

The Board of Directors of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce recommended to its Civic Affairs Committee that it continue to study the future of the Delta County Nursing Home at its November meeting held Friday at the Chamber building. President Ray McDonough presided.

The Board also recommended that the Civic Affairs and State Affairs Committees, whose chairmen are H. H. Dubblede and John McCarthy, respectively, study the problems relating to ambulance service in the area.

A resolution was adopted by the Board to be sent to Gov. George Romney, the Michigan State Highway Commissioner, Sen. Thomas Schweigert and Rep. Charles Varnum, requesting that funds be provided for the next fiscal period for the completion of the highway improvement program from Gladstone to Rapid River.

The Board also referred a request for information on the status of the laboratory addition to the present state office building in Escanaba, to Sen. Schweigert and Rep. Varnum.

A joint meeting of the Board of Directors of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the Escanaba Industrial Foundation will be held this week to discuss the implementation of the downtown development program.

Rifle Fire Spree Is Fatal To Trio

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — A Battle Creek man, distraught by marital problems, went on a shooting rampage in his mother-in-law's rooming house Sunday 15 minutes after he purchased an M-1 carbine and 100 rounds of ammunition from a nearby discount store.

The gunman, Anderson D. Nunnally, 28, shot and killed his wife, Erma, 27, M.T. Fant, 41, and wounded two other persons before taking his own life with a single shot through the temple. Fant was a visitor at the house, police said.

Listed in critical condition at a Battle Creek hospital with a bullet wound in her right chest and arm was Mrs. Loretta Moore, Nunnally's mother-in-law.

Robert Lee Spraggins, 53, a roomer, suffered a superficial head wound and was held overnight for observation. His condition was listed as not serious.

"He came to the house, threatened to kill everyone and opened fire," said Police Chief Clifford Barney. "He apparently had some domestic problems with his wife, who had gone to stay with her mother."

Barney said the bodies of Nunnally and his wife were found in the front yard of the Moore home. Mrs. Moore and Fant were found sprawled on the living room floor.

Spraggins, who returned to the house shortly after the shooting began, ran to a rear door and was creased by a bullet as he tried to enter, Barney said.

Barney and Nunnally fired 13 shots during his brief rampage. He said Mrs. Moore and Fant apparently were the first victims. Nunnally then fired on Spraggins at the rear door and dragged his wife from the house to the front yard.

After a brief struggle, Nunnally shot his wife in the back of the head at point blank range before turning the weapon on himself.

One Repudiates Statements He Made In Hanoi

but some officials said it was not known how effective the treatments were.

Hayden told Western newsmen in Phnom Penh they were kept away from the three sergeants because they would "exploit" them. Hayden and Communist officials contended that any embarrassing questions put to the sergeants by newsmen might jeopardize the future release of U.S. prisoners. Hayden appeared hurt when newsmen suggested this was akin to blackmail.

Communist sources in Phnom Penh said a steady "trickle" of prisoners would be freed if news stories about the current release were "correctly written."

The apparent reason for the roundabout route was to draw out the release process while the Communists made as much propaganda as possible of their action, which they have said came in response to peace demonstrations in the United States.

Hayden, a Newark, N.J., writer who twice visited Hanoi and whose passport was withdrawn, represents a committee that includes Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and folk singer Joan Baez.

He said that to his knowledge the committee had not met and he received word in Paris from an unspecified source to go to Phnom Penh on the prisoner matter.

Fireworks Start Sault Tricentennial Jan. 1

SAULT STE. MARIE — A four-color sketch of the Sault Locks, considered one of the major tourist attractions in Michigan, will be used to illustrate the cover of next year's Michigan State Highway Department maps as a means of honoring the Sault's 300th birthday in 1968.

Highway Department officials said that about a million of the maps are published each year and receive wide distribution throughout the country. The reverse side of the map cover will honor the one hundredth anniversary of Wayne State University.

The Sault Tricentennial commemmorates the founding of the city in 1668 by Father Jacques Marquette, who was ordered here from Quebec to construct a permanent mission for work among the numerous Great Lakes tribes of Indians.

With the help of two other missionaries, Marquette built a wooden church and residence surrounded by a square of cedar posts 12 feet high, the first permanent buildings to be constructed in what is now the State of Michigan.

The Tricentennial celebration will begin with a New Year's Eve Ball and fireworks display. It will continue on through the year with a varied program, which will include a six weeks showing of a pageant depicting Father Marquette's arrival.

The Sault Locks were considered a particularly appropriate theme to symbolize the city because they will receive national recognition next June 15 during dedication ceremonies for the new $40,000,000 Poe Lock.

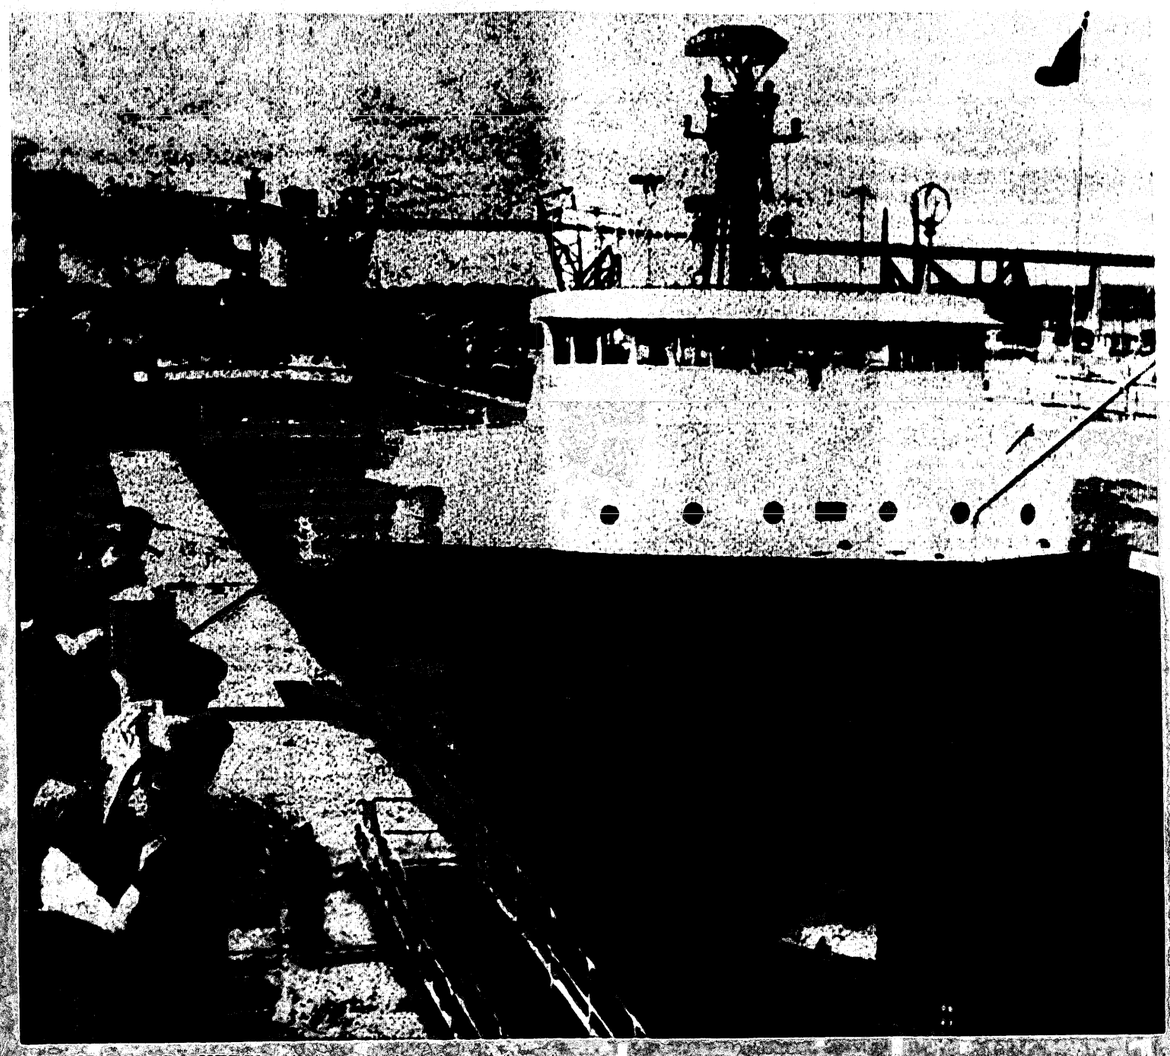
President Johnson has been invited to head the list of notables attending the dedication. White House sources have indicated that a definite reply to this invitation will be forthcoming next April.

Three years in the building, the new lock is 1,200 feet long, 110 feet wide and 32 feet deep. It is built to handle a new breed of Great Lakes freighters 1,000 feet long and 105 feet wide, which will be able to carry three times as much cargo as the largest ships now sailing the Lakes.

Plans for building the first such ship approaching this size of supercarrier were announced recently by U. S. Steel. This new vessel will be 858 feet long, 105 feet wide, and will carry 45,000 tons as compared to the largest current ships, which are 730 feet long and carry about 25,000 tons.

The map sketch will show the first, or MacArthur Lock, and the raised viewing stands along the lock wall which each summer attract nearly 800,000 visitors. From these vantage points visitors can view the ships and the locking process going on almost within arm's reach.

The locks have been in continuous operation each shipping season since the first State Lock was opened to navigation in 1855.



A FOUR-COLOR SKETCH similar to the above view is scheduled to illustrate the cover of about one million copies of the 1968 Michigan State Highway Department map. This view was selected to show most clearly how visitors can ascend the raised viewing stands along the Lock wall to watch the ships and the locking process at extremely close range. The three viewing stands along the lock wall annually attract almost 800,000 visitors. The ship being locked through is the 690-foot Herbert C. Jackson of the Interlake Steamship Co. carrying 23,000 tons of taconite pellets from Taconite Harbor, Minn. to Buffalo. In the background is a second ship waiting to enter the locks and the twin spans of the new $20,000,000 International Bridge between Sault, Mich., and Sault, Ontario.

Congress Urged To Block Quotas On Import Trade

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Legislature has urged Congress to defeat proposed import quotas and limits on foreign trade.

A Senate-approved resolution passed by the House Friday said import restrictions by the United States would cause other nations to retaliate against American exports.

Hurt by such a move, it said, would be Michigan's $2.5 billion annual export volume.

The imposition of quotas would result in higher prices for millions of United States and Michigan consumers and thereby contribute to inflationary pressures," said the resolution, which was sponsored by Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor.

Fleeing Bandit Shoots Grocer

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit store owner, shot by a bandit he chased down an East Side alley, was listed in serious condition today in a Detroit hospital. Lewis Willis, 43, told police he ran out the rear of his market when he heard his wife, Shirley, call for help.

He chased the gunman down an alley. The man, who escaped with $28, turned and fired on Willis just before leaping into a waiting getaway car.

Linda J. Kirschner, Peter H. Lynch Wed

St. Francis Xavier Church in Spalding was the setting Saturday, Nov. 11 for the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Linda June Kirschner and Peter Harland Lynch of Chicago, Ill.

Rev. Aloysius Ehlinger heard the solemn exchange of vows at 12 noon. The St. Francis Senior Choir provided the wedding music for the service accompanied by Mrs. Wallace Wells at the organ.

Following the mass the bride placed her Sodality cape and a long stemmed white rose at the altar of the Blessed Virgin. Twin brothers of the bride preceded her down the aisle and served as altar boys for the service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kirschner of Powers and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lynch of Carney.

Maid of honor for her sister was Carolyn Kirschner of Powers and bridesmaids were Mrs. Ronald LaBelle of Chicago, sister of the bride, Kathy Lynch of Powers and Bonnie King of Green Bay.

Peau de Soie

The bride chose for her wedding a floor length gown of ivory Angelskin peau de soie fashioned with a peau d'Ange lace trimmed bodice and wedding ring neckline, long sleeves and detachable chapel train.

A French coif styled headpiece of peau d'Ange lace trimmed with pearls held her shoulder length veil of pure silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of white mums and ivy centered with a white orchid.

The bridal aides wore lace trimmed skimmer style gowns styled with long sleeves and full length trains attached at the back necklines. The maid of honor wore honey gold and the maids, willow green.

Clustered linen fabric headpieces held their short silk illusion veils and they carried floral bouquets to match their gowns.

Kerry Ann LaBelle of Chicago and Cindy Marie Benson of Powers were flower girls and were dressed similiar to the bridesmaids.

Bestman for his brother was Jim Lynch of Carney and groomsmen were Ronald LaBelle of Chicago, Robert Macco of Kansas City and Robert Caliaro of Hermansville. Seating the guests were Alex Lynch of Carney and Raymond Nolde of Gladstone.

The wedding reception was held from 3:30 to 7 p.m. at Rubick's Inn in Spalding, followed by a wedding dance. Assisting were Carol Kirschner, Norma Arkens, Ann Marsicek, Tammie Nolde, Betsy Lynch, Jill Hanson and Cindy Lynch.

HOME FURNITURE NEWS by Clyde Anderson

BASIC PIECES

Are often referred to in decorating columns and magazines — meaning the essential furniture you should buy first if you are on a budget, and to which you should give the major share of your budget.

But you might well ask just what are these basic pieces? How little can you start with? Which are the most important pieces?

Start with the living room since your needs are more clearly defined in bedroom and dining area. The average living room needs a sofa, a good-sized man's lounge chair and one or two smaller occasional chairs, coffee table, lamp tables and good lighting, and you have your basic furnishings.

Of these, if budget demands, you can eliminate the larger lounge chair in the beginning, perhaps use inexpensive floor cushions for extra seating. If you choose a longer sectional sofa — often a wise selection — you gain extra seating with fewer chairs, often at a saving.

We'll be glad to help you select basic pieces for any room or for your entire home, keeping your taste and your budget in mind . . . and creating the most livability and beauty for your home!

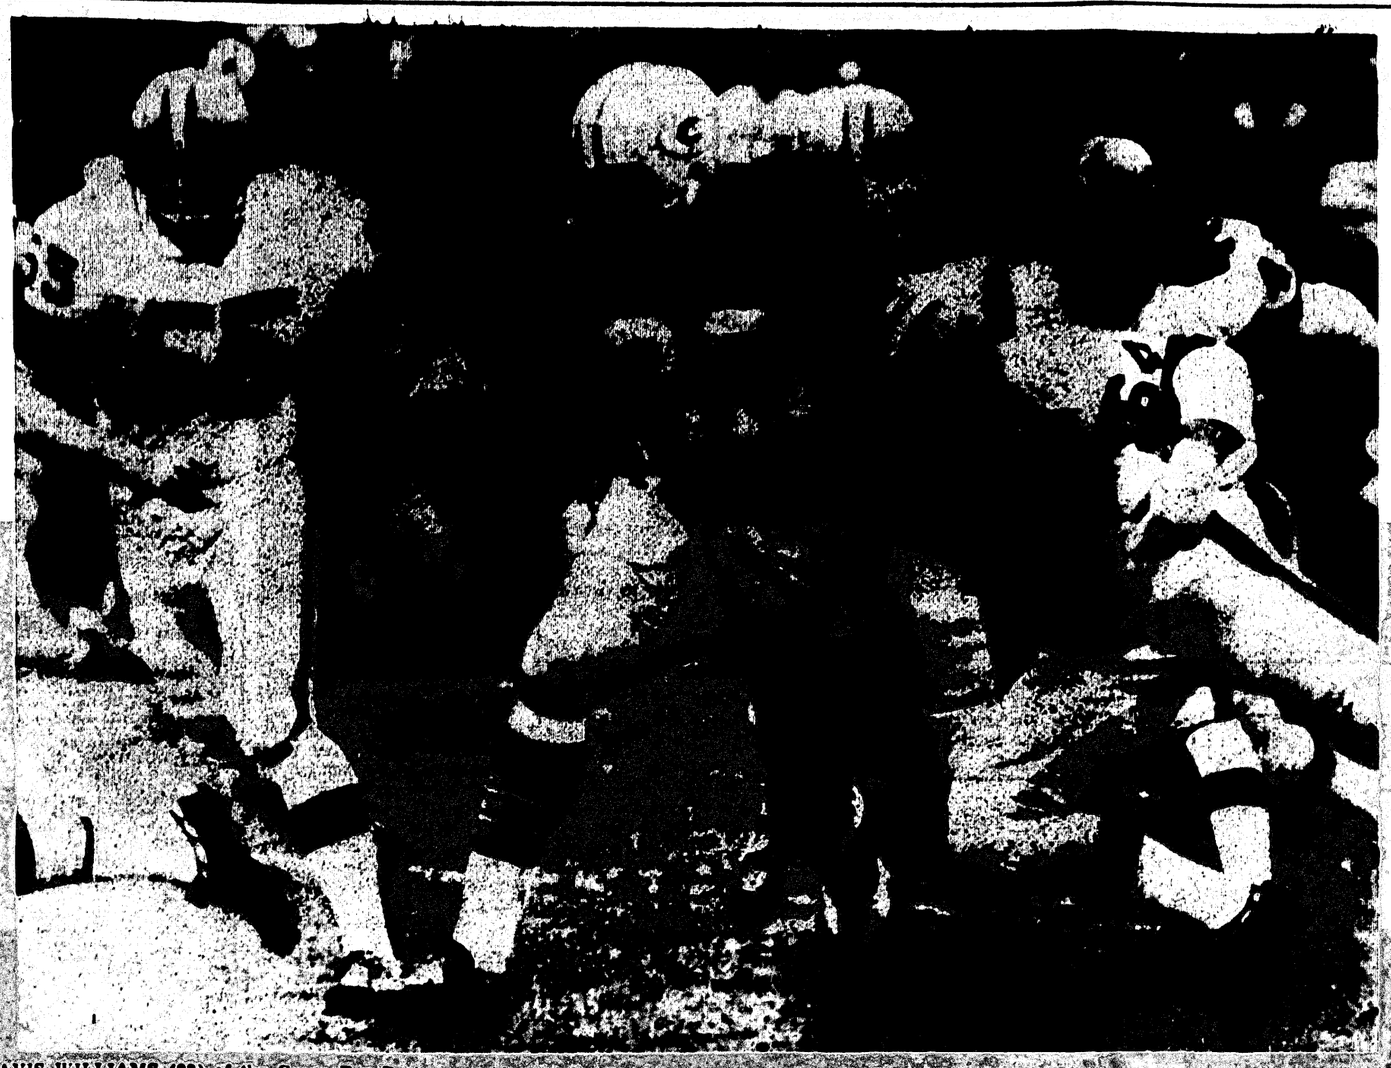
USE LOTS OF CAUTION! LOOK CAREFULLY BEFORE SHOOTING!



TRAVIS WILLIAMS (23) of the Green Bay Packers avoids Jim Copeland (64) of Cleveland Browns and keeps an eye on Don Demarie (55) during his 87 yard touchdown run with the opening kickoff at Milwaukee Stadium Sunday. The Packer speedster tallied again on an 85 yard return later in the first period to set an all-time National Football League record as Green Bay wheeled to a 55-7 victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Pack Bombs Browns 55-7

Travis Scores Twice On Kickoff Returns For Explosive Start

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Nonstop Travis Williams has rushed to the rescue of the ailing Green Bay Packers and now the Cleveland Browns are suffering from a severe case of wounded pride.

Williams, the Packers' first-class traveling man, made the Browns somewhat sorry they ever got off their bus Sunday as he returned kickoffs 87 and 85 yards for first-period touchdowns.

The Packers added three more touchdowns in the same period and went on to hand the Browns the worst defeat in their history, 55-7.

"I couldn't believe it was happening," said the 21-year-old rookie from Arizona State after triggering a record National Football Lague first-period scoring spree—35 points.

Neither could the Browns, who played as if thunderstruck after Williams' first ramble on the opening kickoff. "I don't know what happened," said Coach Blanton Collier. "I saw him run against St. Louis two weeks ago. I knew what he could do. We all knew what he could do."

Williams helped beat the Cardinals in that game with a 83-yard kickoff return. He now has three touchdowns on only six returns and already shares the NFL season record. His two touchdowns Sunday also tied a single game record set last season by Timmy Brown of the Philadelphia Eagles.

No one before Williams ever scored twice on kickoffs in the same period.

The rookie, a fourth-round draft choice with 9.3 speed in the 100-yard dash, has carried the ball only 11 times, including five carries from scrimmage. Yet, he has gained 389 yards, including 43 yards in four carries against the Browns Sunday.

Williams has a 9.8-yard rushing average from scrimmage, a 33.3-yard average on kickoffs, and a gaudy 35-yard average over-all.

"It's a question of speed," said Coach Vince Lombardi of the rookie prize he warned the football world about during training camp. "He hits the hole so darn quick."

Williams was not the only factor in Cleveland's undoing. Donny Anderson, the bonus baby making his first NFL regular season start, scored four touchdowns, and veteran Ben Wilson, obtained from Los Angeles before the season, gained 100 yards rushing.

Anderson and Wilson were fill ins for Elijah Pitts and Jim Grabowski, both out with leg injuries suffered in a 13-10 loss to Baltimore last week.

Bart Starr also played his best game of the season, completing 14 of 21 passes for 266 yards and two touchdowns—a 14-yarder to Marv Fleming and a 27-yarder to Anderson.

On Cleveland's first play from scrimmage after Williams' first runback, a Frank Ryan pass to Paul Warfield was intereepted by Bob Jeter and the pattern of the game was fixed as the Packers drove for a second touchdown. Another interception and a Ryan fumble helped produce two more first-period touchdowns.

"I'm not very proud of that," replied Lombardi after being told the defeat was the most one-sided in Cleveland history.

The Browns lost the ball four times on interceptions and twice on fumbles.

"I think we wanted to win so badly we were too tight," said Collier. "We couldn't play our game."

Sam Wilson of Hempstead, N. Y., and Tom McKeon of Hicksville, N. Y., are on Navy's defensive football squad.

Colts Stay Unbeaten By Trouncing Atlanta

By The Associated Press

Green Bay rookie Travis Williams couldn't believe it. Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier didn't want to. And, as usual, Packer Coach Vince Lombardi had the last word.

"That's been our history. The Packers always rise to the occasion," said Lombardi after the Packers, led by Williams' record-tying heroics, stunned Cleveland 55-7 Sunday.

"When we've had an injury," Lombardi added, "we always play a little better."

The Packers had the injuries—starting running backs Jim Grabowski and Elijah Pitts are out—and they certainly played well, running up a 35-7 first-period margin and romping in from there.

The victory, spiced by Williams' record-matching two kickoff returns for touchdowns, kept the defending champion Packers atop the National Football League's Central Division.

Baltimore remained unbeaten and on top of the Coastal Division with a 49-7 romp over Atlanta, with Johnny Unitas providing a spectacular passing game and the Colts showing no letdown after the previous week's important victory over Green Bay.

Dallas moved three games in front in the Capitol Division standings after a 27-10 decision over New Orleans, while St. Louis maintained a precarious hold on the Century Division lead with a 14-14 tie with Pittsburgh.

Chicago thumbed New York 34-7, Minnesota and Detroit battled to a 10-10 tie, Los Angeles whipped Philadelphia 33-17 and Washington clipped San Francisco 31-28 in the other NFL games.

In the AFL, New York whipped Buffalo 20-10, Houston held off Denver 20-18, Kansas City romped over Boston 33-10 and San Diego shutout Miami 24-0.

"I couldn't believe it was happening," Williams said after returning kickoffs for touchdowns on runs of 87 and 85 yards for the Packers. His feat matched the league record of two kickoff returns for touchdowns set last year by Philadelphia's Timmy Brown.

And the 35 points run up by the Packers in the first period set a league record.

Donny Anderson and Ben Wilson filled in admirably for the ailing Pitts and Grabowski, Anderson scoring four touchdowns and Wilson rushing for 100 yards.

"The story of the game," Lombardi insisted, however, "was Bart Starr." Starr completed 14 of 21 passes for 249 yards and two touchdowns.

"I still don't know what happened," said the dazed Collier. "I think we wanted to win so badly we were too tight and couldn't play our game."

Colt quarterback Unitas played his game—perhaps even a little above his usual outstanding performance. He completed 17 of 20 throws for 370 yards and four touchdowns, the scores coming on plays covering 25, 11, 64 and 5 yards, in the rout of Atlanta.

End Frank Clarke, who lined up in the backfield on a tight-I formation, broke open the game for Dallas, racing 56 yards for a touchdown that put the Cowboys in front of New Orleans 17-0. They coasted in from there.

Pittsburgh, with quarterback Bill Nelsen calling the shots, moved 90 yards in nine plays in the last minute of play to gain the tie with St. Louis. Nelson capped it with a six-yard toss to Roy Jefferson. St. Louis, however, remained one-half game in front of Cleveland.

Detroit established a negative record, fumbling 11 times, in the tie with Minnesota, an offensive nightmare for both teams. Mel Farr carried 24 times for 197 yards for the Lions, who tied it on Wayne Walker's 12-yard field goal in the third period.

Sub quarterback Larry Rakestraw was the big gun for the Bears against stumbling New York. Rakestraw flipped scoring passes of 23, 18 and 6 yards and scored twice himself. Defensive tackle Frank Cornish set up three touchdowns by intercepting two Frank Tarkenton passes and recovering a fumble.

Sonny Jurgensen passed for three touchdowns, the last a 15-yarder to Jerry Smith with 7:01 remaining, in Washington's comeback against San Francisco. He completed 22 of 41 for 291 yards. The Redskins scored twice in the third period, both after fumble recoveries.

Oregon Beavers Tip Top-Ranked Trojan Gridders

By The Associated Press

Oregon State had its moments in Lafayette, Los Angeles and Corvallis. It will not have any in Pasadena.

The Pacific Eight's Rose Bowl representative will be decided Saturday when UCLA meets Southern California. The Beavers, now out of the race for the conference title, will simply have to console themselves with the thought that they tied one and beat the other.

Oregon State added a 3-0 victory over top-ranked Southern Cal last Saturday in Corvallis, Ore., to its tie with UCLA, then No. 2, in Los Angeles and its victory over Purdue, also No. 2 at the time, in Lafayette, Ind.

But the vagaries of the schedule and an early conference loss to Washington will keep the Beavers out of the Rose Bowl. Southern Cal will go if it beats UCLA. The Bruins will play if they win or tie.

A 30-yard field goal in the second quarter and a defense that let O.J. Simpson do everything but score got the Beavers the victory "that certainly ought to break us into the Top Ten," according to Coach Dee Andros.

Indiana looks more and more like the Big Ten Rose Bowl representative, coming from behind Saturday to beat Michigan State 14-13. The sixth-ranked Hoosiers scored late on a drive led by John Isenbarger and ended by his eight-yard touchdown run.

UCLA, No. 4, tuned up for its nationally televised battle with Southern Cal by pounding Washington 48-0. Gary Beban threw three touchdown passes and scored once himself. The USC-UCLA battle is on ABC-TV at 4 p.m., EST.

North Carolina State, rated third before the weekend, missed a golden opportunity to move up, bowing 13-8 to Penn State. Tennessee, No. 2, rolled over Tulane 35-14 behind Dewey Warren's passing and Walter Chadwick's running Wyoming, No. 7, remained unbeaten, blasting New Mexico 426. Jerry DePoyster's four field goals in the game gave him a career total of 175, an NCAA record. Purdue, No. 5, beat Minnesota 41-12, staying tied with Indiana for the Big Ten lead with a 5-0 league mark.

Oklahoma, No. 8, took over the lead in the Big Eight race, burying Iowa State 52-14, as previously unbeaten Kansas fell to Colorado 12-8. Notre Dame, No. 9, crushed Pitt 38-0 with Terry Hanratty running for two touchdowns. Houston, No. 10, beat Memphis State 35-16.

Open Friday In New Gym

Gladstone Has Vet Cage Players Back

GLADSTONE — Coach Bill Wood will field a veteran Gladstone High School basketball team when the Braves open their season in a brand new gym against the Negaunee Miners Friday night, Nov. 17.

Wood lost only two seniors from the squad that fashioned an 8-10 record last season. Tom Stade contributed 146 points in the regular season and Gary Larson saw limited action because of a football knee injury.

Although the Braves have a solid background of experience, they are still a relatively youthful team this year because of the heavy sprinkling of sophomores in the lineup last season.

The only seniors on the current squad are Mark Stupak and Pete Jarvis. Stupak, a 6 foot 2 inch forward, pumped in 225 points last year and Jarvis, 5-8, tallied 32.

Five juniors with game experience are Steve Nelson, John Watson, Dennis Anderson, Mark Weber and Dennis Livermore.

Nelson, standing 6 feet 4 inches, was Wood's leading scorer and key player last season when he hooped 268 points.

Watson, also 6-4, scored 169 points last year but has been sidelined with a knee injury and will not be available until late in the season. He underwent surgery at Marquette last week.

Anderson also stands 6-4 and he contributed 55 points as a reserve last year. Weber tossed in 14 and Livermore 2 in limited action.

Six juniors round out the Gladstone squad. They include Dan Lacosse, Eric Trichel, Steve Maniaci, Bob Carlson, Bill Hoehn and Bruce Richards. Hoehn and Maniaci both reach the 6 foot 1 inch mark, giving Wood six players who are six-feet or taller.

Gladstone will be playing in its spacious new gymnasium for the first time Friday night. Seating capacity is 1,800.

The Braves compete in the Great Lakes Conference with Negaunee, Manistique, Munising, Newberry, Ishpeming and Sault Ste. Marie. Non-conference foes on the schedule include Stephenson, Holy Name, Escanaba, Menominee and Gwinn.

The Gladstone schedule:

Booter Closes Bronco Career

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Kick specialist Dale Livingston wound up his college football career on a familiar note as he kicked Western Michigan to its third straight winning season.

Livingston's toe meant the difference for WMU Saturday as the Broncos downed Xavier 18-7.

Livingston scored 10 points with three field goals and an extra point. In addition, he set up a safety with a 76-yard punt which rolled dead on the Xavier one-yard line.

It was the 11th straight home triumph for the Broncos and the 10th time in Livingston's career that his points have been the victory margin.

OK Post-Season Bid

Perfect Year For Northern

GRAND FORKS, N. D. — Northern Michigan completed its first perfect football season in history Saturday by beating North Dakota 25-6 and promptly announced it will accept an invitation for a postseason game if one is extended.

The post-season announcement was made at halftime by athletic director Rick Zentz. Northern, Michigan, ineligible for the four-team NAIA playoffs and for the past two weeks, has been ranked second in the nation among member schools.

Northern struck quickly against North Dakota, scoring at the 13:20 mark of the first period when defensive back Phil DePerro wheeled 70 yards behind perfect blocking for a punt return touchdown. DePerro had 137 yards in punt returns for the afternoon, running his total return yardage for the season to 600 and four touchdowns. Place kicker Gene Grady, on a broken play, passed to end Jesse Jenkins for a two point conversion.

The Wildcats were stopped on the North Dakota three midway in the first period, but the next time they had the ball Grady booted a 26 yard field goal to give Northern an 11-0 lead at 4:10 of the first period.

Another Grady field goal effort was foiled by a strong wind in the second period and the 'Cats lost an apparent touchdown when North Dakota intercepted a wind-helped Lloyd Carr to Jenkins pass in the end zone.

Late in the half, Northern drove 80 yards in 12 plays for their second touchdown. Lonnie Holton capped the drive with a two yard plunge and Grady converted to put NMU's lead to 18-0 at intermission.

North Dakota with the wind at its back dominated the third quarter and scored their only touchdown when Bob Bertrand's punt was blown back five yards by the wind. The Sioux needed six plays to drive 23 yards with Jerry Strain scoring from the eight. A run for the extra point failed.

Northern marched 80 yards in 11 plays for their final tally in the fourth quarter. Geoff Sitkoski drove in from the seven and Grady, who tied a single-season NMU record with his 27th successful conversion, made the final score 25-6.

The Wildcats defense held North Dakota to 44 yards rushing and 77 in the air while the offense piled up 174 on the ground and another 87 passing. Holton led all rushers with 87 yards.

In addition to its first perfect season (9-0) in history, Northern has set a record for consecutive victories at nine and has gone a record 12 straight games without a loss.

Fumbling Lions Settle For Tie With Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS ST. PAUL (AP)—Detroit Lions Coach Joe Schmidt gritted his teeth and tried to be funny.

"Why did we fumble so much? because we practice it all week," he said after the Lions had fumbled 11 times — five losing the ball — in Sunday's 10-10 tie with the Minnesota Vikings. It was a National Football League record..

"I wish I knew what caused the fumbles," Schmidt added. "But I don't think there is any simple explanation."

Schmidt seemed relieved that the Lions escaped with a tie, leaving them with a 3-4-2 Central Division record. "When you fumble that much, you usually get blown off the field," he said.

Vikings Coach Bud Grant, asked about Detroit's record-setting fumbling, answered with a question that explained his feeling.

"We set a record by causing 11 fumbles, is that what you mean?" Grant asked a questioner.

"The Lions are just that overpowering," Grant said of Minnesota's meager offensive output of seven first downs and 177 net yards rushing and passing. "They've done it against everybody. Look what they did to the 49ers and the Bears."

Lions halfback Mel Farr, who gained 197 yards rushing and caught two passes for 10 more yards, said, "I never had a busier afternoon. But those fumbles. Man, I don't know what caused them."

Grant said Farr "is just as good as the films indicate. He made the great play to set up their tying field goal." Grant referred to Farr's 52-yard sprint late in the third quarter on which the former UCLA star started out on a sweep to the right, ran into a wall of tacklers, reversed his field and circled back to sweep down the opposite sidelines.

The Lions overcame their bobbling long enough to tie the game in the third quarter on Karl Sweetan's 26-yard touchdown pass to Bill Malinchak, and Wayne Walker's 12-yard field goal.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"What would you suggest for a husband who completely forgot about my last birthday?"

Red Wings Capture Share Of Top Spot

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings are No. 2 in scoring but perhaps they try harder, because they're tied for No. 1 in the standings.

A 3-1 victory over Montreal Sunday night moved the Wings into a three-way with Toronto and New York in the NHL's Eastern Division.

The crowd of 14,381—the largest ever to see the Canadiens at Olympia — saw Norm Ullman storm the Montreal nets with a clean slap shot for his 300th career goal to ice the game for Detroit.

Another fellow trying hard for the Wings—and succeeding — was Roy Edwards. The 30-year-old netminder in his second game with Detroit turned back 36 shots, relenting only to Jacques Laperriere's rebound midway through the game.

With little more than a minute gone in the first period, Gary Bergman put Detroit on the scoreboard and into the lead with a slap from the left point. The shot hit a Montreal stick and deflected high into the net past goalie Rogatien Vachon.

At 9:43 of the second period Laperriere popped his rebound past Edwards, who was kept busy in the first two periods stopping 30 of 31 shots.

Said Edwards afterward: "There's nothing you can do—just make him make the first move. . . and be lucky."

About seven minutes later Floyd Smith sent a rebound into the Montreal net to put Detroit ahead for the night 2-1. It was Smith's third goal of the season and the second straight game he has scored the game winner.

Then 3½ minutes later Ullman scored his milestone goal. Bruce MacGregor fired a perfect pass from the corner which Ullman drilled home before a startled Vachon who never moved.

Ullman, out of action earlier in the season with a shoulder separation, has six goals this year.

He is only the 10th man in NHL history to score 300 goals and three others were Red Wings—Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio and Ted Lindsay.

The Wings are idle until Thursday when they meet the Pittsburgh Penguins at Olympia.

Elsewhere in the NHL Sunday, the Chicago Black Hawks beat the St. Louis Blues 5-2 as Bobby Hull blasted his 13th and 14th goals of the season. The Oakland Seals were winless for the 14th time in a row bowing to the New York Rangers 5-3 and Philadelphia so stopped Boston 4-2.

"It was nice to come back to New York but it would have been a lot nicer to go back home with a win," Oakland defenseman Larry Cahan, a former Ranger, said after the Seals wound up another lost weekend in the East.

Beaten 2-1 in Boston Saturday night, they almost erased a 4-1 first period deficit against the Rangers before Reg Fleming's second goal of the game shot New York beyond reach.

After winning their first two games at home, the Seals have dropped 11 and tied three in a tailspin that began on Oct. 18.

The Black Hawks, who went through seven games before nailing their first victory of the season, scored twice within 22 seconds while short-handed in the first period and then breezed past St. Louis.

Chicago's Dennis Hull was serving a penalty when Doug Mohns beat ex-teammate Glenn Hall and Bobby Hull came right back with another tally. Ken Wharram's 200th career goal, Bobby Hull's 14th in 14 games and Dennis Hull's first of the season completed the rout.

Philadelphia thwarted the Bruins' bid to take the lead in the East as goalie Bernie Parent and defenseman Joe Watson, Boston castoffs in the expansion draft last spring, bedeviled their former mates.

Watson scored his first goal of the season, sending the Flyers ahead to stay in the first period, and Parent came up with 37 saves in blanking the Bruins until the final five minutes. The victory sent Philadelphia into a second-place tie with Minnesota in the West. Boston is one point off the pace in the East.

Freehan Named Tiger Of Year

DETROIT (AP)—When "Tiger of the Year" balloting came up a year ago, Bill Freehan didn't rate a whit.

But things change.

Now the burly Detroit catcher holds the honor for 1967 and he was the solid favorite.

Pitcher Earl Wilson got eight votes and outfielder Al Kaline got six, with 13 for Freehan, in the voting by Detroit baseball writers.

Freehan batted .262 this season, up 48 points from last year when Denny McLain edged out Norm Cash for the award. Don Wert won it in 1965.

Indiana Is One Pinch From Trip To Pasadena After Nipping Spartans

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana Coach Johnny Pont's stock remark all season has been "We're still pinching ourselves."

One more pinch will assure the Hoosiers of a trip to the Rose Bowl. And, who knows, two more weeks of pinching will mean the Big Ten title and possibly the national championship.

The Hoosiers were pinching themselves today following a harrowing 14-13 victory over Michigan State which left Indiana tied for the Big Ten lead with Purdue and only one of two major undefeated and untied football teams in the nation.

With top-ranked Southern Cal and No. 3 North Carolina State falling last Saturday, sixth-ranked Indiana and seventh-ranked Wyoming remained the only undefeated, untied major teams.

Purdue, No. 5, boosted its record to 7-1 by humiliating Minnesota 41-12 as Leroy Keyes scored three touchdowns to give him 14 for the season in the Big Ten and break the touchdown and scoring record of 13 set by the late Tony Butkovich of Purdue in the 1943 season.

Indiana takes its story book horde to Minnesota Saturday where a victory will assure the Hoosiers of their first trip to the Rose Bowl regardless of Big Ten results the following week.

Purdue cannot go under the no-repeat rule and now that Minnesota has one defeat on its Big Ten slate, an Indiana victory over Minnesota would assure the Hoosiers of no worse a finish than a Big Ten tie with Minnesota. Under these circumstances Indiana would get the nod since it has never been to the Rose Bowl while Minnesota has had its licks.

While Indiana and Purdue were taking control in the Big Ten Saturday, Northwestern, Michigan and Ohio State picketed up conference triumphs.

Northwestern humbled Iowa 39-24, Michigan downed Illinois 21-14 and Ohio State edged Wisconsin 17-15. Outside the conference, Notre Dame went along with Indiana and Purdue to keep the state of Indiana the zenith of collegiate football with a 38-0 victory over Pitt.

But back to the Hoosiers. After playing Minnesota, Indiana and Purdue meet for the Old Oaken Bucket in the final game of the season.

This time, however, the Bucket could carry with it the Big Ten title and possibly the mythical national championship if both teams can triumph this week.

While Indiana is at Minnesota, Purdue entertains Michigan State. Other games find Illinois at Northwestern, Iowa at Ohio State and Michigan at Wisconsin.

Wayne State Bows From Undefeated Grid Ranks

By The Associated Press

Wayne State University fell from the ranks of football unbeatens over the weekend but at Marquette, Northern Michigan University fans are celebrating a history - making perfect season.

Wayne State's 20-14 loss Saturday to Eastern Illinois was its first defeat in eight games.

NMU, ranked eighth last week in the Associated Press Small College Football Poll, wound up the season with a 9-0 mark by defeating North Dakota University 25-6.

In other games Saturday, Grove City, Pa., overwhelmed Adrian 49-6, Northern Iowa beat Eastern Michigan 14-6, Hiram, Ohio, edged Kalamazoo 21 - 20; Ashland, Ohio, steamrollered Hope 39 - 0, Taylor, Ind., squeezed past Albion 10-9, Central Michigan edged Morehead State, Ky., 9-7; it was Olivet 20, Bluffton, Ohio, 14, and St. Norbert, Wis., 13 Hillsdale 7.

Wayne State and Eastern Illinois were tied 14-14 in the final quarter when Eastern signal caller Joe Davis threw his second touchdown pass of the game to clinch the victory.

Northern Michigan's Gene Grady led the Wildcats to victory at Grand Forks N.D., by pulling in an extra - point pass from Jesse Jenkins and kicking a 26-yard field goal and two points-after-touchdown.

Bruce Cameron kicked three field goals for CMU, breaking his own record of two in a game, and the victory pushed Central's mark to 7-2.

Joe Romine's extra point provided the margin of victory for Taylor after Albion tried a pass for a PAT and failed.

Olivet quarterback Al Nagy passed for two touchdowns and ran for another as he sparked his teammates to their eighth victory against only one loss.

Ashland's powerful running and passing attack, paced by quarterback Mike Healy, crushed Hope and left the Dutchmen with a 2-6 record.

Kalamazoo scored twice in the last 71 seconds of its game at Hiram, but couldn't overtake the Ohioans.

Northern Iowa took a 7-0 lead in the first half and never was headed. Eastern Michigan's only points came in the third period on a seven-yard run by Don Madden.

Adrian suffered its seventh defeat in eight games at Grove City as the Pennsylvanians scored seven times.

Hillsdale's lone score in the fourth quarter came when Daane Pelz blocked a punt and defensive halfback Mike Bos picked up the ball and ran 28 yards for a touchdown.

In Memoriam

Pelletier

In loving memory of our beloved son and brother, Francis O. Pelletier, who died three years ago today, Nov. 13, 1964.

Three years ago he passed away,
Into His Master's keeping.
Who gave us these consoling words,
Not dead but only sleeping.
He heard the voice we could not hear,
Which said he must not stay.
He saw a hand we could not see,
Which beckoned him away.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence,
For our dear son we loved so well.
More and more each day we miss him,
Friends may think the wound is healed.
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within our hearts concealed.

Sadly missed by
Mr. and Mrs. Orville Pelletier

Driver License Means More Responsibilities

Possession of a driver's license now mean new responsibilities subject to strong penalties if misused.

Secretary of State James M. Hare notes that seven new "driver related" laws enacted by the 1967 Legislature are now in effect.

The most talked about and most widely known is the so-called "Implied Consent" law. This provides that a person who operates a motor vehicle on the public highways is deemed to have given consent to chemical tests of his blood, breath, urine, or saliva for determining alcoholic content of his blood if the person is arrested for driving a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or while his ability to drive a vehicle has been impaired due to the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

If a person refuses such a test, his license must be suspended for at least 30 days unless he can satisfy the license appeal board that the arresting officer was without grounds to ask him to take the test.

Public Act 132, provides that a driver's license may be revoked if the person refuses to accept and sign the receipt of a notice to appear for re-examination to determine if he should be allowed to drive. The person's license is revoked without further notice until the person appears for re-examination.

To date expensive personal service was necessary before revoking the license of a person who had failed to appear for re-examination.

Other "driver related" laws, Acts No. 17 and 212, provide the Department of State with the authority to deal with persons misusing their licenses, allowing others to use their licenses and the reproduction of drivers' licenses with unlawful intent.

Act No. 17 allows the Department of State to suspend an operator's or chauffeur's license for up to one year upon conviction of a violation of: Using a canceled registration, suspended or altered license; lending another person a license, or committing fraud on an application for a license.

Act No. 212 provides in part that any person who reproduces any part of a driver's license including the photograph or using altered photograph on a license or forged license with unlawful intent be subject under conviction to a fine of up to $500, imprisonment of up to one year or both. It also provides that a license of a person who uses an altered photograph on a license or a forged license with unlawful intent shall be revoked.

Act No. 61 increases the minimum jail sentence for persons convicted of driving without a valid license from two to three days for th first offense and from two to five days for a subsequent offense, and unless the vehicle was stolen the registration plates of the vehicle in use at the time shall be confiscated.

Act No. 226 provides a new concept allowing suspension of a driver's license for at least 90 days, but not more than two years after expiration of a sentence for forfeiture of bail in connection with a charge of driving while intoxicated or under the influence of drugs.

Act No. 71 mandates that a driver involved in a collision with another car which is attended or unattesded must notify the owner of the vehicle or the most convenient police officer regardless of whether the accident occurred on public or private property. In other words, accidents on supermarket or shopping center parking lots now will have to be reported to the police.

Persons from out of state will also come under new scrutiny when applying for licenses in Michigan. Act No. 212 requires the department to request the driving record of the person when he applies for the Michigan license. That license is entered against the person just as though it was accumulated in this state and driver improvement actions can be considered accordingly.

Scientific sanctuaries total only 8,000 acres out of the 460 million acres of public domain administrtered by the Bureau of Land Management.

Ann Arbor Trains College Grads For Patrolman Posts

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The first five college graduates to complete training for patrolmen's posts with the Ann Arbor Police Department finished their seven week recruit indoctrination program last week.

The five—four with degrees from Michigan State University and one from Yale—were the first to take the training since Police Chief Walter Krasny announced a policy a year ago of seeking to recruit college graduates for patrolmen jobs.

Also part of the plan was an offer by Krasny to send any officer on the force to college, with the city picking up the tab for tuition and other expenses. Eight of the some 70 patrolmen on the force are now enrolled in night classes.

Hoodlums Injure Elderly Women, Snatch Purses

DETROIT (AP) — Police said three Detroit women had their purses snatched by hoodlums at widely scattered locations in Detroit. Mrs. Beatrice Norton, 66, suffered a shoulder and hip injury when she was knocked down by two youths who took her purse containing $2.

Mrs. Antoinette Kulin, 81, was treated at a hospital for a hip injury after three youths attacked her Sunday afternoon escaping with $14. A lone youth knocked down Mrs. Bertha Hodges, 76, on Woodward Avenue, the city's main street, and fled with $12. Mrs. Hodges refused medical aid.

All for the price of a fancier priced car.

$3260 is the latest average price paid for a new car these days. (So says the Automobile Manufacturers Association.)

$3260 will also buy you a new range, a new refrigerator, a new dryer, a new washer, two new television sets, a record player and a $1695 Volkswagen

Of course our little package doesn't include all those tricky little items you find on those fancier-priced cars. (like electric ashtray cleaners. Or headlights that disappear when the sun comes out.)

But it does include good food, clean clothes, nice music and a chance to watch all the summer reruns in color.

A lot of people frown on a Volkswagen because they feel it doesn't offer enough in the way of fancy gadgetry.

Look again.
